

A Warm Summers Breeze

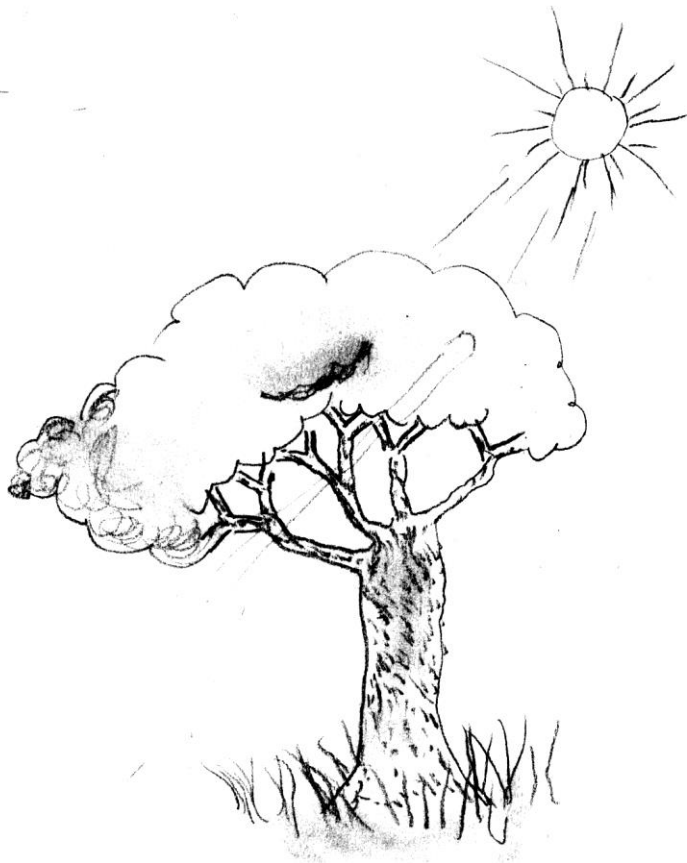

As I enjoy the suns midday rays
My thoughts drift to your gentle touch
A touch that brings a smile
A touch my whole body feels

And with each touch
I want to stay
Just a little bit longer

And as the mid-days' sun fades away
With your sweet scent all about me
I close my eyes and just enjoy

For I know soon enough
The suns' rays will disappear
And your touch will turn cold

As all too often
I stayed too long

And when your touch turns cold

I soon forget

How great it was

In the midday's sun

As a gentle breeze

Turns into a chilly wind

With the setting sun
